

Why MahCard?

In the absence of international credit card networks between Iran and rest of the world, transferring money to Iran has become extremely challenging and expensive. This has also created enormous difficulty for travelers who visit Iran as they would not be able to use their International credit or debit cards in Iran.

This has left them the only option of using cash when visiting Iran. MahCard founders have identified this issue and have been actively trying to solve the problem by issuing Iranian debit cards to travelers while accepting their money and transfer it to IRR (Iranian Rials). At its core, MahCard is a financial service for tourists. The idea is to make it easier for travelers in Iran to exchange and use their money while visiting the country.
